DETAILED ACTION

1. The IDS submitted on 11/01, 6/03 and 10/03 have been considered.

Claim Interpretation

2. Claims Directed to an Apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function, In re Danly 263 F.2d 844, 847, 120 USPQ 582, 531 (CCPA 1959).

A claim containing a "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus" if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1657 (bd Pat. App. & Inter. 1987).

The structural limitations of claim 21, including a data collector, an advisory module and a registration/communication module are disclosed in Wakefield II (5,961,561) and Koropitzer et al (5,694,323) as described herein.

Also as described the limitations of the claim do not distinguish the claimed apparatus from the prior art.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The phrase "the field service person" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. Claim 23 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Specifically, a claim directed to or including within its scope a human being will not be considered to be patentable subject matter under 35 USC § 101, In re Wakefield, 422 F.2d 897, 165 USPQ 636 (CCPA 1970).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-4, 7-8, 10-11, 21-28, 30-32, 34-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wakefield II (5,961,561).

As per Claim 1, 25.

Wakefield II ('561) discloses:

As per Claim 21.

Wakefield II ('561) discloses:

a data collector, see figure 1 (10);

an advisory module, see (12);

a registration/communication module, see (13, 14).

As per Claims 22-24.

The limitations of the claims do not distinguish the claimed apparatus from the prior art.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3639

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 5, 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wakefield II (5,961,561) in view of Doherty et al (6,735,293).

As per Claim 5, 29.

Wakefield does not specifically disclose transmitting advisory information to the field service provider as the field service provider is in transit between a first destination facility and a second destination facility.

Doherty et al ('293) teaches providing the work order to the service technician via pager or email, which can receive messages at any time, including while the technician is in transit, see column 10, lines 4-6, for the benefit of allowing the field service provider to go directly to the next destination without checking back in to the headquarters for new assignments.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to transmit information to the field service provider between a first destination and a second destination for the benefit of allowing the field service provider to go directly to the next destination without checking back in to the headquarters for new assignments.

9. Claims 9, 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wakefield II (5,961,561) in view of Garber et al (4,905,163).

As per Claim 9.

Wakefield II ('561) does not specifically disclose determining the language to which the customized advisory information is formatted based on a provider identifier input by the field service provider,

Garber et al ('163) teaches the calling system selecting language based on the provider identifier input by the user, see column 33, lines 29-46 for the benefit of providing language appropriate to the user.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to select the language based on the provider identifier input by the user for the benefit of providing language appropriate to the user.

Prior Art Made of Record

- 10 The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Art Unit: 3639

WO 00/0237 to Hart et al is the closest prior art that teaches using Short Message Service to notify technicians of work with text messages on a digital cell phone.

Sawyers "Troubleshooting tech turn to Net is the closest non-patent literature.

Sisley et al (5,467,268) teaches a system of matching jobs with technicians who have the skill level to perform the job.

Garber (4,905,163) teaches presenting material based on the user's level of understanding.
